NGP PUBLISHING - The Publishing Department is a special-purpose facility administering National Gallery Prague's publishing activity in close cooperation with art historians, curators, lecturers, collections, and the Gallery's library. The department's expert output is determined by its specialist focus. Apart from traditional printed matter—exhibition catalogues, collection inventories, guides, professional journals, conference proceedings, artist monographs—we also publish specialist books about art and related fields (art theory and philosophy, museology, art history archives, etc.), books introducing the Gallery's collections, and children's books. Increased output by National Gallery staff (exhibitions, research, education, etc.) has also effected a substantial increase in the Department's book production over the past few years. Books are published in foreign-language mutations, making them suitable items for interlibrary publication exchange, and presenting the Gallery as a developed institution. HISTORY - In the late 1990s, the National Gallery continued with its usual editorial work. In accordance with the Gallery's organisational structure of the time, specialist and technical work was carried out separately within individual collections. The Gallery's Central Publishing Department had been dissolved following a reorganisation in 1997. This resulted in a heterogeneity of imprint content, especially of style and execution. When Professor Milan Knížák became the Gallery's new Director-General, the idea arose in the second half of 1999 of streamlining the Gallery's publishing politics into a single unit, rather than letting individual collections build their editorial imprints without taking into consideration the Gallery's public profile. Instead of mechanically restoring old practice, the goal was to create an entirely new concept geared towards the establishment of a specialised publishing house. The Gallery had good prerequisites, having published printed matter in the past, and with collections constituting a rare and extensive source of visual material suitable for reproduction, ready to be put to effective use in its entirety. The Gallery noted the absence of a Czech-based publisher with a systematic focus on specialist (as well as popular) books about art. The decision was therefore made to fill this gap by establishing a specialised publishing house as from 2nd January 2002.

Knihovny Minulosti BUDOUCNOSTI

Jaké bylo knihovnictví dříve a kam směřuje? Je tradiční knihovna tématem budoucnosti nebo budeme knihovnu navštěvovat už jenom online? Jaké vize má tradiční knihovnické řemeslo, a které nejmodernější technologie knihovníky nahrazují? Potřebují knihovny pro přežití tzv. jít s dobou nebo přežijí i v té nejtradičnější podobě? A jak vypadá knihovna současnosti? Přijďte na stánek Národní knihovny uvažovat i diskutovat nad tématem minulosti a budoucnosti knihoven.
